

ST. PAUL PARK REFINERY

Fact Sheet

Refinery Information

The St. Paul Park refinery (SPPR) occupies approximately 170 acres along the Mississippi River southeast of St. Paul Park, Minnesota and was originally built in 1939.

SPPR is a 102,000 barrel per day cracking facility with operations including crude fractionation, catalytic cracking, hydrotreating, reforming, alkylation and sulfur recovery, as well as hydrogen plant operations. The refinery's strategic location allows direct access to crude oil. The complexity of refinery operations allows it to process a variety of light, heavy, sweet and sour crudes into higher value refined products.

The refinery primarily processes Canadian crude oil and light sweet crude oil from the Bakken Shale in North Dakota. The broad slate of refined products produced at the refinery includes gasoline, diesel, jet fuel and asphalt, which are then marketed to resellers and consumers primarily throughout the Midwestern United States.
